There was a good turnout of 17 riders for the first trial of year- keen to get on their bikes and work off some of the Xmas overindulgence!

Good to see Kev's got his new bike up and running but he's trying to turn it into his old one but adding flywheel weight too slow it down!

Apparently it had been a scorcher of a day when Carl and Steve set out the sections and the morning started out with my ideal trials weather - overcast and cool - but soon turned to light rain which continued most of the day, I don't think it stopped anyones enjoyment although it made some of the sections more difficult!

There were 10 great sections (Steve - you did a good job of taming down Carls usual world round ones!) up the valley with most in the river and utilising a few logs and banks etc, this sure is a great property for trials- with challenges for all levels, I think it would be a great place for our national round - bring it on!

I had a great day riding round with Ricky and newcomer Brian who enjoyed the challenges after his usual trail riding, looking at the scores there was some good rivalry in the grades too..

see you at the next event!
